James Andrus, sr., is holding 100 head of cattle, which he is pasturing on the Copper bottom, preparatory to turning them over to his son, Mode, who will arrive from the south ranches in a day or two with a large bunch of cattle, when they will be driven to Modena for shipment east. Cattle are beginning to show marked improvement in this section since the recent showers.

The farmers here have just about completed the hisroesting of the first crop of lucern, which has been good in the Washington field and Jarvis and seep ditch fields, but very light in the Santa Clara field, owing to the scarcity of water in the Santa Clara creek. And though crops will be short this year, due to the combined loss occasioned by the drouth and the destructiveness of the sparrows, yet what does remain will be better as far as the fruit is concerned, and the grain blds to be fair. Grapes, currants plums and garden stuff of all kinds are making a very thrifty growth this spring, and the almond crop is going to be very good.

Up Together.

(Special Correspondence.) Mercur, June 17.—Last night the ar-Mercur, June II.—Last night the arrest of a young man on a charge of petit larceny led up to a dramatic entertainment of exciting interest. A warrant was sworn out before Justice Dundayer by P. R. Porter, charging Harry Burand with the theft of a revolver, and later City Marshal H. J. Mair placed Durand under arrest. He consented to the officer searching his room, and accompanied him to Mrs. Eliza. Sindar's rooming house. The landlady was not agreeable to the proceedings, but the marshal went and the case.

Frank Carter died this afternoon from the effects of the De Lamar mill diast. He is a son of William Carter, the man who plowed the first furrow in Utah. He only came home about ten days ago. He hung on to his job in an endeavor to make something for his family, knowing that death was fast family, knowing that to quit would only be adding to his troubles, as the work took his mind off his impending fate. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

had ICE in plenty but Refrigerators were practically unknown. Now Refrigerators are necessary, and if you own an Illinois Automatic, very little ice will be needed. We know the Automatic Refrigerator is the best, because it is honestly and thoroughly made. No flues to clean, not necessary to wash it out unless something be spilled in it. It has perfect circulation-odors and moisture deposited on the ice instead of on the contents. Dead air spaces, lined with mineral wool and charcoal paper (no charcoal to sift out) cuts the ice bill in half. Special sale this week. See the overhead automatic at $5.95.
